

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

An exceptionally deep low pressure system is passing to the northwest of the UK today bringing strong winds to many areas. However, the extent and strength of these is less than previously anticipated, and the area of the warning has been reduced. Winds will generally come down across England, Wales and Northern Ireland this afternoon, but not till later in the evening over much of Scotland.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 02:00 on Tue, 24th Dec 2013 until 23:59 on Tue, 24th Dec 2013

An area of low pressure will bring strong winds to the area today. There is the likelihood of widespread gales, with gusts of 50's of mph inland and 65-75 mph on some coasts and hills.

The public should be aware of the potential for disruption to travel.
